INDIA TURNS DOWN BRITISH PLAN, REPORT

Reuters Hears That Independence Proposals Are Rejected

REPLY OF MOSLEM LEAGUE AWAITED

Cripps May Make Formal Announcement at Meeting Tomorrow

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, April 10.—Reuters reported today from New Delhi that it understood the All India Congress party had rejected British proposals for Indian independence. The dispatch said Sir Stafford Cripps called a press conference for noon tomorrow and was expected to announce the final result of his mission.

He has not yet received the reply of the Moslem league, second largest of the Indian parties, Reuters said.

The news agency reported that the decision of the congress party—presumably an action by its working committee—was unanimous.

Calls For Defense
NEW DELHI, India, April 10.—Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru told Indians today that their duty, "whatever the results of negotiations with Sir Stafford Cripps," was to "serve and defend India to the uttermost."

The leader of the Hindu All-India Congress party made his exhortation to his countrymen in opening a campaign to rally Indians to the defense of their country. Reports were heard of fresh hitches in Sir Stafford's negotiations. Certain members of the All-India Congress party working committee were said to have found changes in the original British proposals unsatisfactory now that these have been fully explained. The committee's final decision is expected soon. After long talks with the British envoy, Nehru conferred last night with Louis Johnson, President Roosevelt's personal emissary.

PROPOSE CHANGES IN OHIO GAME LAWS

LISBON, April 10.—Columbiana county sportsmen and farmers comprising the County Conservation committee advocated three changes in the Ohio game laws at a meeting held in the courthouse here Wednesday evening. President Richard Andrus announced today. The recommendations will be submitted at a district meeting in Ravenna, Sunday, April 13.

Kim Crawford of Middleton township, and C. J. Locke of Salmville, farmer and sportsmen representatives will present the action of the local group at the district meet, including the proposed change in the pheasant laws, to read two birds of either sex, instead of cock birds only, and a 10-day season. It was also proposed to limit coon hunters to 10 animals per season, and a closed season on groundhogs was recommended throughout the year with the exception of July and August.

3,300 PLANES—30-DAY OUTPUT

Rayburn Hints at Production Results; Many Soldiers On Fronts

(By Associated Press)
SULPHUR SPRINGS, Tex., April 10.—Rep. Sam Rayburn, speaker of the house, said last night the United States now has six times as many soldiers on the battle fronts—after four months—General Pershing had after 10 months of the war of 1917-1918, and that production of supplies for these troops is running ahead of schedule.

Despite this bright picture, the Texas Democrat told a unity rally he did not expect the end of the war in 1942.

He sketched this outline of arms production: More than 3,300 planes are pouring out of factories monthly, well ahead of schedule with one company alone turning out an entire trainload daily, and anti-aircraft gun production is in advance of schedules.

Production goals in shipping undoubtedly will be met by summer or early fall.

Garand rifles are rolling out of factories fast enough to equip every soldier who needs one.

Rayburn blamed isolationists for reverses in the Pacific, recalling that as majority leader three years ago, "I lost the first battle of Guam."

Lack of unity and confidence have hampered the war effort, Rayburn said, costing the nation priceless time and valuable ground. The former can not be regained, but the ground can be re-won, he assured the nation.

PUBLIC APPROVES LONGER WORK WEEK

Also Asks Cut In Profits And Elimination of Extravagance

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Increased public pressure for legislation to lengthen the work week, slash production profits and eliminate extravagance and waste in the war effort was forecast today by congressional leaders gauging domestic reaction to the military defeat on Bataan.

Almost without exception, informed legislators foresaw mounting public irritation against any obstruction to the production program—an attitude one veteran senator said could be attributed to the general feeling that while the people should not interfere in military strategy, they had a prime responsibility for all-out production.

Senator George (D-Ga.) said he believed Americans on the home front feel it is time for major sacrifices.

"In my judgment," George told reporters, "the American people are in a frame of mind where they are not going to tolerate anything more than the most reasonable of wages or profits. They are going to demand that everybody work a full 48-hour week at regular pay, that profits be held to a minimum and that waste and inefficiency be eliminated."

CITY GETS TIRES FOR REPAIR TRUCK

Vehicle Used In Street Fixing So Board Is Quick To Say O. K.

The Salem ration board last night awarded two tires and tubes to the city for use on a dump truck which, the service director's petition said, is used in transporting material and equipment to repair the city streets.

For the sake of the streets, and the motorists who drive their precarious tires over them, the board quickly filled the request.

Six other pleas for tires were answered.

Two truck tires and two tubes were awarded Mrs. Mary Johnston of 171 S. Ellsworth ave., owner of a truck used in hauling arsenal slag.

The Citizens Ice & Coal Co. was given two passenger tires and tubes for use on a half-ton truck.

R. W. Broomall of 1245 N. Ellsworth ave. was granted one truck tire and one tube.

One truck tube only was authorized for R. W. Hack of 181 Fair ave.

W. J. Dickey of 550 Ohio ave. was granted two truck tires and two tubes for his truck which is used in hauling arsenal supplies.

Two truck scraps went to Ernest Walton of 432 N. Lincoln ave. The board's quota of recapped tires for April is only five.

Many Ohio Homes Saddened As Bataan Defenders Go Down

At Least 28 Ottawa County Soldiers Believed To Have Been With General Wainwright

(By Associated Press)
PORT CLINTON, April 10.—The furious last-ditch stand of Uncle Sam's gallant defenders of Bataan brought sorrow today to a score of homes in the Port Clinton area.

At least 28 Ottawa county soldiers were with the outnumbered forces of General Wainwright. There was official doubt that many of his 36,800 troops could have escaped to Corregidor fortress.

Members of a tank company formed here in 1920, the Ohioans, members of the national guard, entered federal service with the 37th division. They were trained at Ft.

Fairmount Home Facing Labor Shortage, Report

ALLIANCE, April 10.—Fearful of a help shortage that is hitting similar institutions, trustees of Fairmount Children's home have ordered a study of the payroll preliminary to granting possible pay raises to employees of the home which is jointly operated by Stark and Columbiana counties.

Realizing wages in war industry are a great inducement for present workers to leave the employ of the institution, Trustee Paul C. Siddall told the board a serious shortage of help appears imminent.

Rain Is Plentiful

Rainfall for the past two days has totaled 1.75 inches, according to measurements taken at the city's sewage treatment plant.

Bottomlands in the area near Elkton were reported inundated by water from Beaver creek. The county highway department's dredging operations in Elkrun a year ago is believed to have prevented the Elkton itself from being flooded at this time.

Funds From Polo Club Dance Buy Testaments For Soldiers

New and Better Entertainment Is Planned For Most Colorful Event of Season

The Salem Polo club's benefit barn dance, scheduled for Saturday night, April 18, at the Elks club, promises to be the most colorful event of the season.

Those who witnessed the innovations introduced at last season's dance are assured of new and better entertainment this year, according to announcement today by Walter Pernengel and Ralph Hawley, chairmen of the committees arranging the third annual barn dance.

This benefit dance is being arranged to raise a fund with which to buy Testaments for young men who enter the army or navy service. Men in uniform will be admitted free. In fact, they are the only ones who will get in without a paid ticket. Even committee members as well as all Polo club members must purchase tickets.

A horse race—the pre-running of the Kentucky derby—will be one of the features of this year's barn dance. There will be three heats,

FATE OF LUZON SEALED EARLY

War Correspondent reveals Why U. S. Had No Air Strength

How the Japanese air force crippled the United States air strength in the Philippines is told in the following dispatch by Clark Lee, Associated Press war correspondent who lived through the battle of Bataan and most of the siege of Bataan before going to Australia.

BY CLARK LEE
MELBOURNE, Australia, April 10.—The fate of Luzon and Bataan was sealed just before 1 p. m. on December 8, some 10 hours after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

Our main bomber force was lined up on Clark field, 40 miles north of Manila on Luzon island, with the crews standing by awaiting orders to take off and bomb Japanese air and naval bases on the island of Formosa.

Most of the pursuit planes were at nearby Iba field.

The pursuits and some bombers had been aloft during the morning but had returned to the ground for orders.

Japanese Strike

While these instructions were being issued, the Japanese struck. Fifty-four heavy enemy bombers roared over Clark field at 10,000 feet and showered the grounded planes, runways and hangars with explosives.

Eighty-six Japanese "Zero" fighters came in their wake and strafed the planes, ground forces and anti-aircraft batteries in low level attacks.

Simultaneously other bombers and fighters dived on the parked planes at Iba field. They left a roaring hell of flames at both air-dromes.

Some of our planes were saved, but the main strength of our air force was gone.

After midnight that night Japanese bombers came in over Manila bay and, aided by flares and fires set by fifth columnists on the ground, attacked Nichols field on the outskirts of Manila, where planes assigned to defend the Cavite naval base were stationed.

Earlier Monday the Japanese air force raided American outpost air fields along the western and northern coasts of Luzon. Some

Voluntary Registration of Those From 18 to 65 Is Considered

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 10.—President Roosevelt disclosed today that, in connection with studies for mobilization of man power for war industries, the government was considering voluntary registration for all women 18 to 65 years old.

Probably within a week, Mr. Roosevelt asserted, some decision will be reached on how to go about channeling man power into war jobs.

One difficulty in registering women, he asserted at a press conference, is inherent in the number of persons who would come forward to enroll. This would create mechanical difficulties, he said, remarking that the preparation of cards alone would be a tremendous task.

He said there had been talk of a voluntary registration for women on the next registration day for men up to 65, on April 27, if, and he emphasized the if, it is decided to register women, a date will be set later on.

A cabinet committee which has been tussling with the problem of channeling men into war production activities thus far has made only an oral report, the chief executive said. But the question is discussed, he added, at nearly every cabinet meeting.

One of the real problems in setting up the machinery, after it is determined what is to be done with available man power, Mr. Roosevelt explained, lies in a determination whether a completely new governmental agency should be created or whether there should merely be some central supervision of a great many governmental agencies already engaged in allocating and using man and woman power.

BATAAN'S WAR APPARENTLY HAS CEASED

No Further News Received Except In Message from Gen. Wainwright

MANILA BAY FORTS ARE HOLDING OUT

Capital Now Looking For Sudden Japanese Blows In Other Areas

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 10.—Lieutenant General Jonathan M. Wainwright reported to President Roosevelt today from Corregidor that "our flag on this beleaguered island fortress still flies."

Shortly before, however, the war department had reported that fighting on Bataan peninsula apparently had ceased.

Mr. Roosevelt, talking at a press conference, said that of course we all feel badly about Bataan. There is no further news on this, he said, except that he had received what he called a grand message from Wainwright is answer to one he had dispatched to the general.

Not Released In Full

Neither message was released in full, and Mr. Roosevelt read only the single sentence from Wainwright's communication, that the flag still flies over Corregidor.

This communication came in this morning.

As a result, Corregidor fortress was believed today to be holding out under the torment of heavy air bombardment, and the Japanese acknowledged that fighting was still going on in Bataan peninsula.

A Tokyo broadcast said Corregidor guns put up a furious barrage against Japanese bombers which twice attacked the island stronghold yesterday and set fires that spread a smoke curtain over Manila bay.

In the face of previous Japanese claims that American and Filipino troops on Bataan had asked for a truce, the Japanese Domei agency said at 5 a. m. Eastern War time hostilities were still in progress.

Still Taking Messages

The latest official indication yesterday was that the stronghold had not surrendered, and late last night commercial radio companies still took messages for the embattled island. It was confirmed at San Francisco that radio communication with the fortress was being maintained.

The capital, waiting anxiously for definite official word, looked for sudden blows elsewhere by Japanese forces released by the ending of the battle of Bataan. Meanwhile, Washington read into Japanese announcements themselves a story of staunch resistance by the Corregidor garrison despite thunderous punishment from the air.

REDISTRICTING PLAN OVERRULED

Ohio Supreme Court Sets Aside New Senatorial Program

COLUMBUS, April 10.—The Ohio supreme court in a special decision today set aside a new state senatorial redistricting plan adopted last year on the basis of the 1940 census.

The court ordered the decennial apportionment board to redo the redistricting. In effect, the decision called for reestablishment of the old districts with very few changes. It was a five-to-one decision with Judge Charles Zimmerman, Springfield Democrat, dissenting. Judge Gilbert Bettman did not participate because of illness.

Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert attacked the redistricting on the ground that once original districts as fixed by the constitution of 1851 are combined they cannot be separated.

The redistricting was executed by two Democratic members of the apportionment board, Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson and Secretary of State John Sweeney.

Republican Gov. John W. Bricker, third board member, signed the original report, but later joined with Herbert in seeking a court test of the apportionment plan.

Attorney Harry F. Payer of Cleveland, who represented Ferguson and Sweeney at a court hearing March 19, maintained that "it was one of the finest apportionments ever made. There is no trace of gerrymandering."

TOO ELEMENTARY, MAYBE

More worrying about morale is being done these days per square inch than ever was done before. The experts are supposed to have everything under control or at least to know what needs to be done.

The thing the experts haven't understood is too elementary for them to bother with—too simple and childish. It would be like Einstein figuring out how to sew on buttons with the theory of relativity.

But Einstein without buttons would be in bad shape, at that. So are the experts without their buttons. They need to come down out of the nether spaces and get in touch with some of the commonplace things.

Specifically, what they need to do is understand that morale isn't something to be solved with vitamins, folk dancing, basket weaving and psychological voodooism at all. It's so simple it's silly, which is why the experts can't understand it, no doubt.

The American people need two things to start with, perhaps more later. But right now, they could do very nicely with some old-fashioned band music and pep talks. They want to yell "Hooray" and "You tell 'em, fat boy!"

So far, about the only appeals to their emotional side have been strictly statistical—production in 1943, the sales rate on War Savings Stamps and Bonds and the probabilities of being hit with a 1,000 lb. bomb on the second floor of a three-story house, if they stand perfectly still.

If the experts think Americans in wartime can be handled the way a scientist handles white mice, they're all nuts. War is necessarily a tremendous emotional experience, and it calls for some emotional expression. All over the United States there is a crying need for more band music and parades and cheering and singing and fight talking. The fellows who were looking after morale in the other war did 10 times the work before. It's time to quit being so scientific, better than this—and most of them never had heard of that's the reason for the absence of zip, and to start being enthusiastic.

CEILING ON PROFITS

Insistence on war profit limitations as the price of whatever wage rate concessions organized labor may make apparently isn't the hard bargain the business batters think it is. The Roosevelt administration, moreover, has been cool toward any hard-and-fast method of limiting profits in war contracts, preferring to leave the field open for spot judgment on what constitutes exorbitant profit. The war production board and procurement officials of the army and navy, also, seem to prefer to continue the existing plan. The treasury is understood to take the position that undue profits can be reached by the excess profits tax which, under the treasury's latest proposal, would reach a maximum of 75 percent. Everybody concerned seems to remember with a shudder of apprehension what happened under cost-plus-10-percent in World War I; cost immediately became an item of suspicion. Putting a ceiling on profits is easier said than done.

Nevertheless, congress evidently prepared to go through the motions of putting a ceiling on profits in war contracts; speculation centers on the figure of 6 percent, with attention to discretionary authority. It's an uncertain subject. But war profit limitation is a good phrase, like home and fireside, even though no one can be sure what it means. After all, it was only this year, Feb. 16, that the supreme court said a 22 percent profit by a steel company on material for World War I was not exorbitantly high relative to other profits and indicated that the chief thing in war production is to worry about getting out the work, leaving the cost to be adjusted by the statisticians later. If the government can't handle profiteering without hanging the sheep for the goat, under a hard-and-fast law, it owes its taxpayers an apology.

HELL BOX IN EVERY HOME

Someone recently proposed a hell box in every home. It's worth doing something about. A hell box is used by printers for storing discarded bits of type and other metal until enough has collected to justify sorting it out and salvaging it. In the home, comparable odds and ends suddenly have become tremendously important in connection with wartime conservation of material.

Many household heads already depend heavily on a similar kind of salvage to supply them with exactly the right piece of metal, or the right size of washer, or a part from an old faucet, or the pin for a hinge. All that's required in their cases is to extend their hits and pieces of salvage to include articles for which they have no theoretical use, but for which their country has considerably more than theoretical use right now—broken and worn-out odds and ends of all kinds. If, as seems likely, the pinch in certain scarce materials is destined to get much worse before it can get much better, the time to start a hell box would be now, against the day when the government's need may be so pressing that a more insistent call for salvage will be made. And if nothing comes of it, well a hell box at least would keep the junk from getting underfoot.

BETTER, MUCH BETTER

Organized labor's neglect of its public relations problem is being overcome. There need to be more joint appearances of President Green of AFL and President Murray of CIO; more voluntary surrenders of "rights," such as the right to draw double pay for working on Sundays; more open-mindedness on the subject of organized labor's adjustment to the fact that the depression is a thing of the past. Labor's job today is not to fight tooth and nail for a diminishing number of jobs, but to fight tooth and nail for more production.

It is unfortunate that in the process of being stimulated to do something about the "bad press" it was getting, organized labor is letting its spokesmen blame the press, instead of accepting the blame, themselves. This is one of the oldest American customs, dating back to the still older custom of cursing the mirror for an unpleasant reflection. If the press has done nothing else, at least it has made labor leaders aware of their opportunity for winning friends and influencing people.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, April 11

THE LUNAR as well as mutual aspects for this day, although they point to much stir and activity and probably excitement, with stirring events and definite accomplishment on new projects or meritorious propositions, yet may foretell some sudden and surprising difficulty or upset in plans, which seem to be tenacious, deep-seated and difficult to manipulate. This might be the stubborn malice or surprising effort of a designing relative or the unlooked-for opposition of strange persons or powers.

Those whose birthday it is may look for an unusually active and enterprising year, which may result in achievement on new and important projects, despite the sudden assaults of either strangers, elders or the stubborn antagonism of a malevolent relative.

A child born on this day should have much energy, aggressiveness and determination to win out against opposition.

Probably one reason why the men in the armed forces are not much bothered by civilian bickering is that most of them are studying harder and longer than they ever did before.

Another nice thing about being in Congress instead of the battle of Bataan is that when things get hot in Congress the Representatives can recess for two weeks and get away with it.

MATA HART'S Daughter

By MAURICE DEKOBRA and LEYLA GEORGIE

SYNOPSIS
A Fifth Column blitzkrieg is under way in England led by a mysterious Ajax who officially and secretly is considered more menacing than Stuka bombers to the defense of the realm. The confessed treason of Mara, ace English spy, followed by the sensational murder of Capt. Hugh Kenley, have put Sir John Sanderson, British Intelligence chief, in a desperate quandary. Sir John's ward, beautiful Brinda Duncan, had given a lift in her car to a limping stranger whom she mistook for an Englishman. But he was a Nazi parachutist and when leaving Brinda's car, he shot Capt. Kenley. Brinda meets Lieut. Richard Malden, a former beau, when both are looking through photos in the Intelligence Office's "rogues' gallery." He has just told her that his engagement to Gladys, daughter of Lord and Lady Mountwain, is to be announced that evening. Brinda had none too pleasant memories of glittering Gladys as a schoolmate. But Sir John and his ward go to the Mountwain party, where Gladys is proudly showing off the rapier-like Russian, Prince Vaslav, described by Dick as "a sort of society entertainer." During a Vaslav-directed "blackout dance," a low cry is heard but by few. Lord Mountwain tells Dick, "Colonel Sanderson has been stabbed," then assured him that none can escape from the grounds. While Brinda administers first aid, her wounded guardian warns her to be "Careful... especially in this house."

CHAPTER TEN
Brinda straightened, and found Lord Mountwain close at her elbow. "Catch what he said?" he asked anxiously. With an effort, Brinda smiled. "Nothing important—just something about—looking after the house."

There was a thunderous knock at the door. Then the rumbling forthright bass of Doctor MacDonald. "I'll announce myself, thanks.... Good evening, all!"

With a nod to Brinda and Mountwain the doctor moved to the bedside. "It could be worse," he pronounced after a swift inspection. "That is, provided there's no infection."

Then to the patient: "You're a hard man to kill, John Sanderson. And for that your friends can be thankful. Because your little gift for keeping out of danger."

For perhaps a half hour, Dr. MacDonald was deftly busy with antiseptics and instruments, swabbing, probing, stitching—now and then muttering deep-voiced orders to Brinda.

Sir John endured it all without a groan. "Thanks, old friend!" he whispered when it was over. "You'll thank me by taking better care of your hide," responded MacDonald gruffly. Then addressing Mountwain, "He'll be all right. Save for that knock on the head and the loss of blood, we could take him home tonight. As it is, 'twould be better if he's not moved for a day or so."

"Quite," Mountwain agreed. "Happy to keep him here. I'm glad it's no graver."

"I'm sure we all are," said the doctor, "except the blackguard that did the knife. A strange affair.... I wonder by any chance could he be the same assassin who murdered Captain Kenley."

Brinda gasped. It was the question that had been hammering at the back of her own thoughts. Unexpectedly, it was Mountwain who came to her rescue.

"How could that be?" he asked quickly. "As I recall it, the man who killed Kenley was lame. This man plainly had the use of both his legs."

"Humph!" MacDonald's growl was one of self-annoyance. "You're right, of course. Wholly illogical of me to connect the two. I wonder why I did." He snapped his fingers resoundingly. "Of course! Association of ideas—coincidence!"

"Coincidence?"

"Certainly. The coincidence, Lord Mountwain, of finding you present on both occasions. Most remarkable, when you stop to think of it.... eh!"

"Yet like all coincidences, perfectly natural," Mountwain's tone was level. "Good lord, yes, mon! How could it be otherwise?"

"The devil!" he exclaimed on seeing Sanderson's eyes wide open. "You're supposed to be asleep. Do I have to give you another hypo?"

"No more hypos, Doc," replied Sir John, his voice faint but firm. "I want to talk to you."

"Tomorrow, John. You're in no shape to talk now."

"This has to be tonight."

"Well, I'll stay a bit longer," said Dr. MacDonald gruffly.

Brinda hesitated a moment, then slipped quietly from the dressing-room to the outer door and thence into the unexplored vastness of the Mountwain mansion.

Her goal was the drawing-room. There, she assumed, she would find Malden. For it was Malden that Brinda had decided, that she must turn for help against the unknown perils that seemed to be gathering over her own head as well as Sir John's.

After a while Sir John asked for Brinda. "In yonder room," said Dr. MacDonald, indicating the alcove. "A brave girl, John. But then that's to be expected—the daughter of Andy Duncan could hardly be a coward.... But she never got her beauty from Andy."

"It's about Brinda I want to talk to you, Alec. And about her mother." He looked at the doctor strangely. "Alec, do you believe in fate? I mean the kind of fate that lays out our lives ahead of us?"

The physician's face set stubbornly. "As an old soldier, maybe; but as a man of science, no. Fate's just another name we give to heredity—a blessing to some, a curse to others. But it's all heredity. John—all heredity."

"Heredity!" Sir John pondered the word. "I've heard you say something like that before, Alec. In fact it's by way of being a hobby of yours, isn't it?"

"You could call it that."

"Well, that's one reason why I need your advice."

"But why must you have it tonight? As your physician, John, let me suggest you just go to sleep. We can talk about heredity any time."

Sir John shook his head weakly. "No, I have to get this off my mind one way or the other. Certain things have happened—things that make it necessary."

"What things?"

"Kenley's murder, for one."

The doctor looked at him with concern. "If your temperature were a half degree higher, I'd think you were delirious, John. What in the name of reason has Kenley's murder to do with your ward and with heredity?"

"I'll tell you something I couldn't tell any other living man," Sir John said slowly.

AUDITOR IGNORES McSWEENEY PLANS

Ferguson Goes Ahead With Arrangements for His Own Campaign

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, April 10. — State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, undismayed by an apparent effort of some Democratic leaders to put former Congressman John McSweeney of Wooster into the campaign for governor, planned his own gubernatorial campaign today.

Ferguson announced a week's schedule of six speaking engagements at Bowling Green last night. He will address the Licking county Democratic club at Newark tonight, the Young Men's Democratic club of Kent Monday, the Duckworth club of Cincinnati Tuesday, the Hamilton county Boat Ride club Wednesday and the Norwood Democratic club Thursday.

Bricker Has No Comment — While Gov. John W. Bricker declined to comment on Ferguson's criticism of his administration in his "coming out" speech at Barberton, some of the governor's friends accused the auditor of inconsistency concerning the much-discussed state deficit. Bricker contends he inherited from the Democratic administration of former Gov. Martin L. Davey.

Ferguson said Bricker actually inherited cash balances of $11,406,000, and asked, "Is that a deficit?" Bricker associates sought the auditor's own official report for 1939, in which he analyzed the school foundation program financing for three years and noted there was a net deficit of $12,012,996 at the end of 1938. Bricker took over in January, 1939.

Ferguson has insisted that he is in the gubernatorial fight to win and does not expect to step aside for any other candidate. His present activity seems to give finality to that position.

As for Clarence Kniseley, Democratic former state treasurer and member of the state industrial commission, who has declared his candidacy, there also seems no turning back. Bricker has accepted his resignation from the commission, effective June 30. There have been rumors, however, that Kniseley might seek, instead, the nomination for state treasurer.

Sawyer Stays Out

Announcement by National Committeeman Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati that he would not be a candidate for governor, was generally interpreted by McSweeney boosters as a gesture toward clearing the field for McSweeney. The latter previously had stated that he would not enter the race against Sawyer and others since that might cause party discord.

McSweeney was the Democratic nominee for U. S. senator two years ago, losing to Senator Harold H. Burton by a plurality of 143,208 votes. McSweeney, however, carried Burton's home county of Cuyahoga by about 900 votes.

LISBON, April 10.—No one was injured when automobiles operated by Mrs. Norman J. Bauman, Jr., of near Columbiana, and Adolph Romeo of Lisbon collided at the intersection of E. Chestnut and N. Jefferson streets at 6:30 p. m. Thursday. One of the cars knocked down a street sign.

CONCERNING CHRONIC ABDOMINAL PAIN

Not An Acute Condition, Says Dr. Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
 PAIN IN the abdomen is one of the commonest of all symptoms and is due to a great variety of causes. Acute abdominal pain is a somewhat different thing than a chronic pain. Acute pain that arrives in the midst of good health demands serious consideration, but was discussed yesterday under the head of the acute abdomen. Today I wish to discuss chronic abdominal pain which is not too severe and which recurs day after day.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

To show how varied the causes of this symptom are, I saw a patient not long ago who had a constant dull pain all over his abdomen. There was very little else that he complained of and very little else that could be found on him.

Lead Poisoning
 The cause turned out to be lead poisoning which is a fairly rare disease nowadays. It was found that his occupation was the peculiar one of inserting lead linings into caskets.

A distinguished Philadelphia physician once wrote a paper called "The West Indies Dry Gripes," and dry gripes is a very expressive term for the abdominal pain of lead poisoning. It is "dry" because it is not accompanied by a diarrhoea, but by constipation.

Another often unrecognized cause of abdominal pain is a curvature of the spine which causes pressure on the nerves that go out under the skin and are distributed to the abdominal region. The diagnostician, who hearing the symptoms of abdominal pain, confines his attention to the abdomen and does not examine the back, often loses out on these cases.

Commonest Cause
 I suppose the commonest cause of abdominal pain, and one which leads to innumerable unnecessary operations is simply emotional imbalance. The person who is chronically dissatisfied with life is known as a "belly acher" and quite often these people actually have a belly ache which they do not realize is due to their dissatisfaction and maladjustment to life.

Of course there are many tangible causes of chronic abdominal pain in the abdomen itself. Peptic ulcer of the stomach or duodenum causes abdominal discomfort, so does gall stones, also gall bladder disease.

The treatment of chronic abdominal pain depends upon the cause, as can readily be seen, and to determine this cause requires a considerable amount of diagnostic skill but in the present day we have many aids and means for this diagnosis. Such a patient is usually subjected to a routine examination with the help of all laboratory techniques and consultants.

Methods of Diagnosis
 An examination of the blood will immediately disclose the presence of lead poisoning, which solved the case I mentioned above. The X-ray, of course, is a highly important feature of the examination. Examination by stomach specialists, rectal specialists and gynecologists all may be necessary to help unravel an obscure case.

In treatment, too, we are pretty well fixed to handle these cases. The orthopedic surgeon may be called in to treat the spine condition.

tion and thus serve as a specialist on the abdomen. One of the curses of our modern situation is the readiness with which these patients are sometimes operated on without careful consideration of exactly what is the matter.

FATE OF LUZON IS SEALED BY PLANES

supposedly were secret fields completed only a few days before. At each some planes were destroyed on the ground in perfectly coordinated attacks.

Japs Fly over Luzon

Japanese planes had been flying over Luzon several nights prior to the war. They had been picked up by detectors and once a flight of pursuits attempted to intercept them, but missed.

The bombers used in the Dec. 8 raids apparently came from Formosa and Hainan, the fighters from two carriers.

On the same day the Japanese forces landed at Aparri and seized a large landing field which had been previously prepared by their agents. It was disguised at a rice field.

Within a few days Japanese planes were operating from this field. On Dec. 10, about noon, they attacked Cavite with devastating success. Without anti-aircraft or pursuit interference their bombers criss-crossed the naval base for several hours.

The Asiatic fleet thus lost its sole effective operating base in the Philippines. American submarines continued to operate for some days, but it was found necessary to withdraw most of the fleet to Java.

Two weeks later the Japanese hit in force, landing almost without sea or aerial opposition in southern Luzon and in Lingayen Gulf.

Specially stamped form post-cards are being used by men in the United States Navy. Possibly such forms will be issued for other branches of the armed forces also.

Conserve SUGAR

HERE ARE SOME PRACTICAL WAYS

British food factories are making a liquid sweetener containing especially processed saccharin and glucose—which is corn syrup. Good results can be obtained using as high as 3/4 corn syrup to 1/4 sugar in making cakes.

A 50% substitution of honey is recommended in cakes. This produces a sweeter cake than corn syrup, but be sure to use clover honey which is not so strong.

Cook breakfast cereals longer than usual. This changes starch particles of the cereal to an easily digested form of sugar.

Add quartered dates to cereals and puddings to enhance their sweetness.

Condensed milk is extra sweet through caramelization. Use this in desserts and cereals.

Indians Return Home For Brace Of Tuneups Before Opener

AL SMITH, HARDER ARE NOMINATED TO FACE NEW YORKERS

Disciplined Tribe All Set For Seasonal Debut In Tigers' Lair

CLEVELAND, April 10.—The betting odds are 12 to 1 against the Cleveland Indians capturing the pennant, but it made little difference to them as they arrived here today for a brace of final tune-up games with the New York Giants.

There is no Bob Feller to keep them in the 1942 race, and youthful manager, Lou Boudreau made it plain that all the Indians realize it.

"I think the loss of Bob was just about the most serious blow that this club could have suffered," Boudreau declared, adding that this might, however, "provide an opportunity for someone else to step out and be a bigger winner than he ever thought was possible."

"Another thing, when Bob was with us, there was a certain air of competency on the club. The feeling that no matter what kind of ball we played, we couldn't go into a slump. Bob would always pull us out. That's gone now."

No Discipline Problems
Discipline, Boudreau added, has been no problem.

"I started out without any training rules, except the midnight curfew. I haven't even had to caution anyone about it."

Jack Doyle's betting odds, bracketing Cleveland and Detroit at 12-1 in the American league race behind New York, Boston and Chicago were issued late yesterday as the Indians and Giants boarded a train at Springfield, Mo., where the weather kept them idle for the third day in a row. The clubs were scheduled to play today at Evansville, Ind., but conditions there were so bad the train came direct to Cleveland.

Single games, carded here tomorrow and Sunday, will find veterans on the mound for both squads. Boudreau named Al Smith for the opener and Mel Harder for the Sunday session, each to work as long as he likes. However, if the weather is cold and raw, Boudreau said he would excuse the veterans and call on some of his younger men.

McCl. also a "rookie manager," picked Ott Hubbell to open Saturday's game, with Bill McGehee furnishing relief. It will be Hubbell's first appearance in Cleveland. For Sunday, Ott picked Vetran Hal Schumacher and Dave Koslo, a young southpaw.

Bits of Sport

NEW YORK—Sports in short: Boxers, shorn of their ring laurels, have exhibited a penchant for going into the restaurant business but former lightweight champion, Lew Jenkins of Sweetwater, Tex., has a new twist—he's going to be a songwriter. He's around town now singing his first composition—"I'll Be Sorry"—and it's dedicated to all opponents, past and future.

Catcher George Dickey of the Chicago White Sox, brother of Bill Dickey of the New York Yankees, hopes to emulate the success achieved by Elmer Riddle, Cincinnati pitcher, after a season on the bench. George announces he's figured out a formula for heavy hitting while grading the Chicago dugout. Riddle says he charted all the National League hitters, while holding down the Reds' bench. Incidentally, Riddle and teammate Al Lakeman were crack amateur boxers before they entered pro baseball.

Bible Has 22 Letters
Johnny Blood, a veteran of 16 years of professional football, is trying to get into the army now but says he'll return to the gridiron if he can't shoulder a rifle. Richard (Red) Smith, assistant coach of the Green Bay Packers, also manages the Green Bay baseball club in the Wisconsin State League. Lulu Constantino, unbeaten New York featherweight, has a 14-year-old brother named Al, who is also undefeated as a 100-pounder in church league bouts. Coach Dana C. Bible of the Texas University football team announces that 22 lettermen will be available this year. He lost 11 starters and five other lettermen from 1941's great team.

Rey Meyer, Notre Dame assistant basketball coach, and Johnny Rigney, Chicago White Sox pitcher, are former buddies. They were high school basketball rivals, Ray at St. Patrick's and Rigney at St. Mel High of Chicago.

Donald Speediest Pitcher
Frank Gustine of Pittsburgh, Charlie Gehring of Detroit and Frank McCormick of Cincinnati are among the other major leaguers who are red-hot Notre Dame fans. Alfy Donald of the Yankees holds the record for the fastest tested speed of major league pitching—94.7 miles per hour of 139 feet per second.

You have one chance out of 81 to draw a pair of aces in poker, one out of 694 to get a full house and one of 648,740 to come up with a royal flush. It should now be safe to boost the ante on a royal flush. Barbara Moffitt, 18-year-old Pasadena, Calif., girl who became rodeo champion at 16, skilled polo player the same year and also a near champ at golf and tennis is now in the movies under the guidance of RKO.

MANHATTAN, Kas.—The first night baseball game in Big Six conference history will be played May 4 between Kansas and Kansas State.

BOWLING

The pace-setting Machinists of the Electric Furnace league were cooled off at the Masonic lanes last night by the Purchasing Dept., which took three straight. They held on to their precious first place perch as the Purchasers lost one game of their match with Night Shift A.

Electrical kept right on rolling as they shut out the Draftsmen to close in on the leaders. The Office advanced to fourth place in the standings by virtue of their two-game victory over last place Structural. The Transformer also held to the pace as they blasted out a two game conquest of the Shipper. They also took two from Night Shift B.

Harry Windram chalked up the best tally of the evening as he opened his series with a 210 and climaxed it with a 233 but still failed to hit the charmed 600 mark. His second game was a mere 144.

BIG ZEKE BONURA COG IN ATHLETIC MACHINE IN ARMY

New Orleans Club Outfits Camp Shelby Nine At Zeke's Request

BY ELLIOTT CHAZE
NEW ORLEANS, April 10.—(Wide World)—Tub-bombed Zeke Bonura, one of baseball's greatest natural comers, is romping through a soldier's life at Camp Shelby, Miss., with the unstudied gaiety of a pup chasing butterflies.

What's more, as a respected cog in the camp's athletic machinery, the inimitable zany is getting results.

Big Zeke spent the winter months boosting boxing and wrestling and basketball. He laughed and cussed 202 of the 300 men in his company into cage uniforms. He told them it didn't matter whether they knew a foul circle from a game of ring-around-the-rosie, so long as they had fun, and got exercise.

His varsity club took the camp championship.

Then spring, and Bonura turned to baseball. Shelby lacked a playing field, and Zeke, with those other fellows, "I got down on my hands and knees, and picked up rock for rock, for over a week, to clear the infield."

He wrote to Charley Hurth, business manager of the New Orleans Pelicans, agreeing to accept any milled flannels lying about the clubhouse. Hurth promptly outfitted the entire Shelby nine and shortly afterward shellacked his steeplechairs in an exhibition game on their own raw field, for which Bonura apologized.

"I had to get this team up in a hurry, but after we got our league going, we plan to pick an all-star team and come to New Orleans for a night game with the Pelicans."

Whether the Bonura cunning extends to the peculiar geography of Camp Shelby's left field is uncertain. His mates insist he planned it.

The left field angles upward to a ridge, then slopes steadily down to a spot somewhere south of the horizon. Zeke is famous for his wallops to left.

Apparently Bonura hasn't lost his twist for selling Bonura to the other fellow. He and his superior officers are as thick as thugs in a jug. Zeke does everything but whack their backs and they like it.

"Look Cap'n," he'll bubble confidentially, "I think we can improve that so-and-so with a little so-and-so." Generally they can.

The same chummy confidence once gouged a $15,000 salary from Bill Terry, even though the blithe banana man had been kicked around around the big leagues for years.

SPORT CHATTER

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, April 10.—Pre-season stuff: The Cardinals plan a real military show for their spring opening game next Tuesday—300 men from the naval reserve armory, as many Missouri national guardsmen and seven bands on the field.

...New Nickname for Len Warnerke is "Old Bill," after Bill Klem—because he's done so much umpiring this spring.... Fred Russell of the Nashville Banner comes up with a new guessing game—who are the oldest active major leaguers at each position.... The answer: Gus Mancuso, C; Ted Lyons, P; Joe Kuhel, 1b; Tony Cucinello, 2b; Leo Durocher, ss; Red Rolfe, 3b; Edd Crutcher, lf; Johnny Cooney, cf; Paul Waner, rf.... and if you think Durocher ain't still active, look at his chin some day.

Sportpouri

Warning to Maryland: Stanford's assistant coaches are looking happy these days because Jim Lawson thinks 7 a. m. is early enough to start work. Clark Shaughnessy used to rout them out at 4:30 when he got a bright idea.... The noon wrestling show planned for St. Louis defense workers, who can't go during the regular hours, has been postponed to 2 a. m. Saturday. The customers voted they'd rather see it after work than before.... When Jess Day, Davenport, Ia., track coach, saw one of his boys felled by a 12-pound shot during a meet at the Iowa field house, he jumped right out of the balcony to give him first aid treatment.

Jimmie Murphy, Canton (Ill.) Daily Ledger: "Radio comedian Red Skelton recently was given a bat by the Chicago Cubs.... Well, there's been a lot of comedy in Cub bats in recent years, but how can Red be expected to make a hit with the gift?"

ST. LOUIS KEGGLERS

OPEN FIRE AT ABC

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, April 10.—Soft-spoken Nelson Burton, bowler transplanted Texan, will head the Budweiser team when the powerful St. Louis outfit makes its bid Saturday in the American Bowling Congress tournament.

Among kegglers, Burton is known as a man who will bowl "anybody, any time, any place and for any amount."

In nine of the last 10 ABC classes, Burton averaged more than 203 per game. In 1937 he scored a 1976 for all events and at St. Paul last year counted a cozy 1965.

Last night was "blow-up" night at the Fairgrounds coliseum for two quints that started with staggering totals but wound up wobbly. The Bradley Barbeques of Indianapolis opened with 1085, second high team game to date, then slipped to 920 and 894 for a 2899 aggregate. Drenik's Erin Browns of Cleveland started with a 1019, then slipped to the 860's for 2744.

Bruce's Jubilee Beer of Cincinnati was second high for the night with 2895 on games of 998, 900 and 997.

There were no changes among the leaders.

No Waner With Buccos

HUTCHINSON, Kas.—When the Pittsburgh Pirates open at Cincinnati Tuesday, it will be the first time in 16 years that the name "Waner" is missing from the roster. Paul Waner joined the Buccs in 1926 and left in 1940. His brother, Lloyd, came in 1927 and was traded to the Boston Braves last May.

VETERANS IN LEAD IN MASTERS EVENT; NELSON IS FAVORED

Smith, Runyan Take Lead With 67's; Sam Byrd, Nelson Shoot 68

AUGUSTA, Ga. April 10.—The Masters golf tournament, struggling along against discouraging rain and distracting war news, entered its second round today with Horton Smith and Paul Runyan, a couple of proficient veterans, leading the field with equal 67's at the first quarter.

Strangely enough, scarcely anybody expected either Smith or Runyan to win the tournament. The favorite, after the field of 42 checked in last night, was Byron Nelson, who shot a 68 on his first round. When Nelson shoots like that at the start holes, as he did, that he never felt more certain of his game, it's hard to make any other choice.

Harold "Jug" McSpaden played a round with Nelson, then offered to bet him against the field. The former open, P. G. A. and Masters champion failed to hit only one green, said McSpaden, and that was because one of his drives came to rest on a rock. "When he's hitting the ball like he is now, he's unbeatable," McSpaden added.

Smith and Runyan, however, must be reckoned with. Five under par on the exacting Augusta national course is eye-bugging golf, even when the sun is shining. Smith was in rare form from tee to green, and Runyan took only 26 puts on the 18 holes. Nelson, by comparison, required 32.

The sensation for some time was Sammy Byrd. The former ball player, who came in before the rain began with 68.

Yanks, Dodgers Clash

BROOKLYN.—The New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers open a three-game exhibition series at Ebbets field today. With Whitlow Wyatt pitching for the Dodgers and Ernie Bonham for the Yanks, today's game will have all the earmarks of the last clash of the league champs on the Dodgers' field, in the 1941 World Series.
